

Sonoma Valley County Sanitation District

FY 2010/11 Budget Summary

Where the Revenue Comes From

The primary source of the Sonoma Valley County Sanitation District's revenues are the fees charged to rate payers and collected on the property tax bills sent out by the County Assessor. Other sources of revenue include interest on fund balances and fees charged for new connections. Proceeds from bonds and debt paid through property assessments may increase the funds available to spend on capital projects but are not counted as revenue to the district.

How Revenue is Spent

The District spends money to operate the wastewater collection and treatment facilities, to maintain and repair District facilities, and to repay bond, other debt and miscellaneous liabilities which may occur as a result of operation. The District also spends money to accomplish the capital projects needed in the District.
